EDITORIAL

"No anonymous articles accepted". This statement is clearly stated on this page in every issue of "American Fencing". Some time ago we received an article signed by "Harry Blade". Since the author was a member of the AFLA whose real name we knew, we advised him that we'd publish his article, but under his own name only. This was agreed to and done.

Recently we received a "letter to the editor" which was extremely critical (not constructive criticism) of the AFLA. The author, whose typewritten name was "Victor Janus", claimed to be "a fencer of considerable competitive experience and accomplishment, well known in the fencing fraternity and a noted professional in athletics".

The return address on the envelope was "General Delivery", Anaheim, California.

The name was strange to us and inasmuch as there was no record of a "Victor Janus" in the AFLA's roster, we wrote to Mr. Janus at the address given requesting some background information to support his claims.

There was no response and after three weeks we sent a second letter. Eventually both of our letters were returned by the Post Office, marked "unclaimed- undeliverable". We assume that the author of that letter reads American Fencing, and hereby suggest that he or she come out of hiding.

We will not publish "anonymous" letters nor any using a "nom de Plume".

CONGRATULATIONS

American Fencing extends its felicitations to Anne Marie Williams of Brooklyn College's varsity team and to Frank Walters on the occasion of their marriage on August 14.

AMERICAN FENCING

1976 OLYMPICS CAPSULE REPORT

by Richard Gradkowski

The 1976 Olympics saw a number of dramatic upsets which, in my opinion, signaled some profound changes in international fencing. A junior Italian fresh from a Bronze medal in Poznan, won the Olympic Foil championship ahead of four experienced French and Soviet fencers. The German and Italian Foil teams ousted the French and Russians from their perennial spots to take the Gold and Silver medals, and even the British stepped into the top ranks by taking sixth.

In the saber events, the Hungarian decline of the past few years continued without a single representative in the individual final, and the Hungarian saber team was whipped by Romania 9-4 to fall out of the money to fourth place. Cuba's sabre team advanced to the fifth spot in world ranking, over Poland, while the U.S. squad again slipped down, out of the rankings. In Epee, Sweden, Germany, and Switzerland dominated, and in the Women's event the French women took over the Silver medal spot from the Socialist grip. This increasing competitive pressure on the Socialist countries will, I am sure, stimulate renewed efforts by them to regain their dominance of the past years. They have the wherewithal to do it, and we can expect the level of international competitive fencing to rise even higher.

The U.S. Olympic team gave another disappointing performance and, overall, did not perform as well as the 1975 World Championship team in Budapest. While the Foil and Sabre men did a little better individually, the Epee men and Women's team did much worse. The Foil and Epee teams were not able to demonstrate any improvement. The quick elimination of many of our competitors right in the first round showed that they were not properly prepared. American fencers must train more seriously if they are to merit participation in future international competition.

RESULTS

FOIL: 1. Fabio Dal Zotto, Italy; 2. Alexander Romankov, USSR; 3. Bernard Talvard, France; 4. Vasilii Stankovich, USSR; 5. Frederic Pietruska, France; 6. Gregory Benko, Australia.

For the U.S., Marty Lang was eliminated in the second round, Ed Ballinger in the third round, and Ed Donofrio reached the final of sixteen. Donofrio fenced best in a classic and cool style, and met his on their own level.

WOMEN'S FOIL: 1. Ildiko Schwarzenberg, Hungary; 2. Consolata Collino, Italy; 3. Elena, USSR; 4. Brigitte Dumont, France; 5. Hamisch, Germany; 6. Ildiko Bobis.

For the U.S., Sheila Armstrong, Ann O and Nikki Franke were eliminated in the first round.

SABRE: 1. Victor Krovopuskov, USSR; 2. Nazlymov, USSR; 3. Victor Sidiak, Romania; 4. Ion Pop, Romania; 5. Mario Aldo I Italy; 6. Michele Maffei, Italy.

For the U.S., Steve Kaplan made the first round and Peter Westbrook and Paul reached the round of sixteen.

FOIL TEAM: 1. Germany; 2. Italy; 3. France; 4. USSR; 5. Poland; 6. Great Britain.

The U.S.A. defeated Iran 12-4, Hong 15-1, and lost to Poland 9-2.

In the direct elimination Great Britain 8-7 (the last bout was not fenced, as too far behind on touches).

EPEE TEAM: 1. Sweden; 2. Germany; 3. Hungary; 4. USSR; 5. Romania; 6. Romania. The U.S.A. defeated Thailand 9-4, and Romania 10-5 and the USSR 12-4, to get the first round.

WOMEN'S TEAM: 1. USSR; 2. France; 3. Germany; 4. Italy; 5. Poland; 6. Poland.

The U.S.A. defeated Iran 11-5 and lost 14-2 and Great Britain 9-7 (after losing British team 6-2 at the halfway point).

SABRE TEAM: 1. USSR; 2. Italy; 3. France; 4. Hungary; 5. Cuba; 6. Poland.

The U.S.A. defeated Canada 9-7 and lost 9-3. In the direct eliminations the USSR 9-1 and Poland beat us 9-3.

AMATEUR FENCERS LEAGUE OF AMERICA, INC.

Annual Meeting

The 1976 Annual Meeting of the AFLA was held on July 2, 1976 at the Cherry Hill Inn in Cherry Hill, New Jersey. Stephen Sobel, President, called the meeting to order at 4:15 PM. Present were Irwin Bernstein, Secretary; Howard Goodman, Treasurer; approximately 20 members in person and 25 members by proxy.

A. Minutes of the Previous Meeting

The minutes of the June 24, 1975 meeting had previously been published in AMERICAN FENCING July/August 1975. The Secretary read excerpts from the minutes because of the continuing interest in some of the issues raised at that meeting. The minutes were then accepted as published.

B. OFFICERS REPORTS

A financial report for the 9 months ending April 30, 1976 having been submitted to the Board at its meeting on July 2, there were no officers reports at this meeting.

C. By-Laws

There were no amendments to the by-laws.

D. Elections

In the absence of contesting nominations by petition, the Secretary cast one vote for the slate proposed by the National Nominating Committee, thereby electing the following for the term August 1, 1976-July 31, 1978:

President: Irwin F. Bernstein

Executive Vice-President: William A. Goering

Vice-President: Mary T. Huddleson

Vice-President: Manny Forrest

Secretary: Eleanor Turney

Treasurer: Howard Goodman

E. Unfinished Business

There was no unfinished business.

F. New Business

There was no formal new business. In keeping with the practice of the past few years, the balance of the meeting was devoted to an informal discussion of matters of concern to the membership with the purpose of advising the officers and members of the Board of Directors of these concerns while informing the members of current policies. Among the topics covered were:

1. National team championships

a. There was considerable discussion about further liberalization of team eligibility rules (since last September, Division Composites are permitted in Nationals under specific conditions), including allowing multiple teams from the same club. At the same time, the increasing difficulty of holding the growing tournament was pointed out.

b. The question of teams of 4 instead of 3 was again raised. Here too, although our internationalists would clearly benefit, the length of team events would increase considerably. In addition, there is the possibility that teams of four would serve to widen the spread between stronger and weaker clubs.

2. The need for clearer and more timely dissemination of rules changes to the membership was cited.

3. Directing

a. The urgent need for developing Class 2 examiners in each section was discussed. As long as examiners must come from a central area, their availability to attend section events will be impaired by time and travel expense considerations.

b. Should we have a new classification between 2 and 3 so that examiners can award a 2 without concern over having certified a director for use in advanced rounds of the Nationals before that director is fully competent for such levels? It was mentioned that classification alone is not automatic entree to advanced levels of directing; the director must still gradually demonstrate competence in order to gain acceptance by the top fencers as well as the confidence of the Bout Committee; therefore we probably do not need additional layers.

c. An offer from Canada for reciprocal use of directors in major championships was reported. The US Commission on Fencing Rules and Officials will investigate the idea.

d. Re-examination of directors was discussed. The FIE has undertaken a project in this area and we plan to follow with one as well.

e. The membership was informed of new FIE regulations for mandatory supplying of qualified FIE directors by countries entering full teams in major international events, with financial penalties for failure to comply. An attempt will be made to budget for sending officials overseas.

f. The suggestion that the National Under-20 (Junior Olympics) be used each year as a Class 2 examination site was referred to the Commission. In view of the development of this event as a true national championships it would appear logical.

g. Concern was expressed over the very casual dress of our directors at the nationals, particularly in semi-finals and finals when the public is likely to attend. It would seem appropriate in these rounds for officials to be better dressed, particularly when officials are not drawn from among fencers just completing their competition.

4. Scheduling of National Championships

There was discussion of the sequence of events as well as the overall scheduling. The sequence is based on many elements of which potential for weapon doubling and availability of strips are probably most important. With regard to the dates, a survey was conducted at the nationals, indicating that an earlier week in June might be appropriate since it would give our internationalists more time before the world championships and might not be inconvenient to too many others.

The Philadelphia Division was thanked for its efforts as host of the 1976 Nationals and for its innovative scheduling.

The Board of Directors will bring the question of discontinuing Under-19 events at the nation retaining the splendid Under-over Washington Birthday week

G. The meeting was adjourned si 5:35 PM.

Respectfully submitted,

Irwin F. Bernstein
Secretary

STANDARD FOILS IN MAR'

by Eaton E. Bayor

At this time last year, we were nearly ready to give up competitive at the Goucher College for Women. The budget could not be stretched the costs of electric scoring apparatus less the cost of continual repairs placements to the electrical equipment

Consequently, our team had little practice with electric foils, and unable to compete with colleges better than we were. But we didn't conduct some inquiries which resulted in six splendid non-electric foil matches. The Towson State College, St. Mary's College, William and Mary, George Washington University, and the Harrisburg Club. We won some of these matches, some, and lost some; and we prevailed following rather conclusively:

1. Standard foil fencing is fun.
2. It is inexpensive
3. There is plenty of it.

We wish to thank the fencing clubs listed above for their kindness in helping us out when we needed it!! It is really gratifying to know that we do have some friends in the fencing world.

From The President

by Irwin Bernstein

By the time this magazine is received, the AFLA national elections will have been officially concluded, national champions will have been crowned, and our fencing team will have competed in the Olympic Games. For most members of the AFLA it will be the summer "off-season", but for the AFLA administration it will be a very busy period indeed.

In order to start the 1976-1977 fencing season in an orderly manner, essential committee work will be underway during the summer. When the Board of Directors holds its annual meeting on September 18, in addition to making decisions on our budget, we will be appointing working committees and reviewing the Olympic Selection System for the 1980 Games. Both of these topics require extensive preparation and both also provide an opportunity for meaningful participation.

Committees

Each year AFLA appoints many committees at the national, sectional and divisional levels. Appointees are usually persons who have worked in league activities before. Frequently the same people retain positions for years on end while others are critical of what they do or don't do.

Now is the time to step forward as a volunteer in a local activity in which you are interested and have some competence. You will usually find patience with sincere effort. Your experience may result in some errors or omissions at first but your staying on the sidelines may lead to someone less capable or concerned taking on the job instead. Before you ask what your division is doing for you, ask yourself what contribution you are making in time and effort.

At the national level there are fewer committee positions but there is always a need for new ideas as well as new people. Even if it is not practical for you to be part of a national committee you can submit your views to aid in developing new programs or procedures or improving existing ones. If you can serve on national committees please let me know.

Olympic Selection System

The point system used for the selection of the 1975 Pan American and 1976 Olympic teams has met with widespread approval. I have heard very few suggestions that the basic principles of the system should be significantly changed. Even if the current system is continued substantially as is, however, there are a series of difficult policy decisions to be made and in the context of past deficiencies in communication to our members, the need is for prompt, clear, and complete resolution of issues and announcement of guidelines.

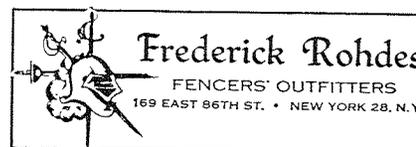

Among the items to be considered by a special committee during the summer are:

1. Weighting of 1976 Nationals performance and points earned previously in reconstituting the International Squad. The present squad members must be recognized for prior achievements but promising newcomers must have a reasonable way to enter the squad without long delays.
2. Selection of team for 1977 World Championships and other non-Olympic competitions to which we send an official team.
3. Scheduling of squad tryouts. In the selection cycle that just ended we received substantial funds for athletes travel to tryouts, particularly in 1975 and 1976. Although continuity of these special events would do much to maintain squad cohesiveness and training momentum it may be impractical from a travel expense standpoint during the first two years of the new cycle.

4. Earning of bonus points at International Events. The system should be reviewed with regard to events (e.g. Pan American Games were not included) and levels of achievement (World Championships quarter-finalists were not rewarded) as well as relationship of potential bonus points compared to basic points.
5. Size of squad. Flexibility, room for personal injury cases, etc. must be balanced against practical aspects of travel to and holding of tryouts.
6. Personal injury appeals. A filing deadline is needed.
7. Ineligibility of Committee. The current policy of the committee that members would not be eligible for Pan Am or Olympic cadre appointments has been a hallmark of the 1972-1976 committee. It has not only reassured fencers of the committee's impartiality but has also earned our sport considerable respect among the governing bodies of other sports. Since it is a policy however, it is appropriate to review it at this time along with our other policies.

Before undertaking the office of President I would like to publicly express my admiration of Steve Sobel for his handling of the job for the past four years and to state my intention to move forward from the strong foundation he has laid for the future progress of the AFLA. If all of our members work for the betterment of fencing in this country there is much we can accomplish. Let this be an occasion for all AFLA members to renew their commitment to our sport.

METROPOLITAN DIVISION TO SUPPORT INTERNATIONAL

by George G. Masin

The Metropolitan Division will next season a new program of support for outstanding fencers. With the 1976-77 season a pair will be introduced to select the one in each weapon (epee, foil, sabre women's foil) who did the best Metropolitan Division's Opens du season (there are about seven each weapon each season). The Metropolitan Division will pledge $100.00 of these fencers toward the expenses of a trip to fence in a Class "A" competition. If the fencer a Metropolitan Division member did season in which he won the most of points, the Metropolitan Division will pledge an additional $100.00 for a $200.00.

This pledge of reimbursement of expenses will be valid for four years. If a fencer does not make use of the trip during this time it is forfeited. If a fencer attains the most points in more than one season, that fencer can combine the grants and use them for one trip. However, grants can not be used retroactively. Competitions the fencer entered during the year he attained the most points or during the year he used the grant.

The fencer will be reimbursed by turning from the European competition presenting receipts for transportation and lodging. The sum of these receipts will equal the amount being claimed by the fencer.

Points will be credited for each competition designated as an "Open" on the schedule according to placement in the finals as follows:

Placement	Points
1	10
2	7
3	5
4	3
5	2
6	1

SHIBBOLETH

by Edward F. Lucia

When I was a young student of fencing there were two slogans that were accepted as "Gospel Truth" in the World of American Fencing —

1. An effective fencing coach had to be trained in Europe.
2. The President of the AFLA had to be an Olympian.

The first Shibboleth has been decently interred for quite some time in all the record books, including the U.S.O.C.

The second Shibboleth has been holding its own and indeed, in the last election for the Presidency, was in rare form.

One day at the termination of practice at City College, the team gathered and questioned me:

"Coach, there is an AFLA election in the near future and there is a candidate named Steve Sobel whom we know as having directed some of our matches but who has no international competitive experience. We understand that you were his coach; can you explain this? How can the President of the AFLA not be an Olympian?"

"Gentlemen, Steve Sobel was my pupil for many years and has become my dear friend. He was most impressive in Prep School. In his senior year, despite a serious disability, he was the undefeated High School champion demonstrating outstanding character, powers of analysis and great intelligence — all this at the age of seventeen."

"He continued to study with me during his college years, became the nemesis of CCNY, and in his senior year won that rare double sabre individual championship: the IFA and the NCAA."

"Since he is one of those very rare pupils who can learn a new action on Friday and win with it on Saturday, he was obviously Olympic material."

My students quietly but thoughtfully departed.

I should now like to continue this biography for the sake of the record.

Steve continued to study fencing but in a more restrained manner. He had come to the Crossroads: Law School or —? His family being the 'salt of the earth,' he decided for the Law and the raising of a charming family. His daughter carries on the fencing tradition.

Steve entered competition and won medals, but now he was in great demand as an official during the major competitions. His great integrity and knowledge of the game, his legal mind and his quiet manner soon solved the thorniest problems. All this under the great pressure of fencers, captains, coaches, audience, "e tutti quanti." This combination was of vital importance for his future. He became involved in AFLA matters, served on committees and was well liked for his courtesy and consideration.

Election time came and Steve was asked to run. He quietly agreed.

Shibboleth! Shibboleth! "No international experience etc. etc."

Steve quietly campaigned on the issues — and won.

Of course there was much turmoil all over the country at this time. It was a Pan American and Olympic period. Fencers were concerned over status, money, etc. Steve now had to pick up the pieces and make it all work. With the help of committees and friends and with the excellent liaison at Olympic House — things happened.

A U.S. Olympic Fencing Committee was formed and many hours of constructive debate resulted in an excellent point system.

For the first time in the history of the Pan Am Games, we received more financial support — three coaches and an excellent cadre were selected.

At one of the first Olympic Trials it gave me exquisite pleasure to inform a malcontent that it was now time to "fence" with blade.

Pan Am is history. An Olympic cadre was now elected. Because of excellent relations with the U.S.O.C. we received more training money, again an unprecedented three coaches and alternates and the same Captain, Keane, Manager, Dr. Valsamis, and Armorer, Du Chaine. A Triumph.

Thus, after four years of unremitting labor and a most understanding wife, Steve Sobel has been appointed to a most prestigious international committee and thus a brilliant future continues to unfold.

(Editors Note: Ed Lucia, fencing master, former Olympic Coach and professor at City College, submitted the above article with this note: "I have been very sick and have written this under great pressure." Eddie has been in and out of hospitals with an inoperable condition of the spine. He recently returned from the Harmorville Rehabilitation Center, where he was desperately struggling to learn to walk again. His home address is (Imperial House 211) 5600 Munhall Rd., Pittsburgh, Pa. 15217, and he would welcome letters from his fencing friends.)

MID-ATLANTIC SECTIONALS

by Dick Oles

The 1976 Mid-Atlantic sectional championships, hosted by the Maryland Division and held at the Baltimore Civic Center on May 1-2, had a little something for everybody. The men's foil event was Group I all the way with 3 A's and 2 B's in the final and featured the 1976 US National foil team champions Freeman, Donofrio and Kestler. Epee saw US National champion Scott Bozek get knocked out in the semifinal. The sabre was also Group I with the Philadelphia Division trio of Todd Makler, Maxwell and Ivey in a 3-way fenceloff for the title and featured a surprise finalist in the Maryland Division's Paul Friedberg, a high school junior. The women's foil final, again Group I, was an all-New Jersey Division affair but unfortunately was marred by two of the finalists who indulged in childish temper tantrums, obscene gestures at the officials, baiting the director, and insulting the spectators, all of which did nothing whatsoever for the fencing. One finalist was expelled from the tournament, but the damage had been done and a bad taste left in everyone's mouth. To his credit, the director kept the situation under control; it is, however, an unfortunate reflection upon the temper of our times that this type of behavior occurs even in a sport which puts a premium upon courteous behavior.

FOIL (GROUP I)

1. Freeman, DC; 2. Kestler, DC; 3. Donofrio, VA; 4. Gaylor, NJ; 5. Chiu, DC; 6. Kilson, PH.

SABRE (GROUP I)

1. Makler, PH; 2. Maxwell, PH; 3. Ivey, PH; 4. Emmel, MD; 5. Fekete, PH; 6. Friedberg, MD.

WOMEN'S FOIL (GROUP I)

Technical Talks

by Joseph Byrnes

The latest news from the FIE on regulations concerning the equipment comes from the May 1976 Congress, where a number of things were enacted that will affect us all, sooner or later.

First some good news. The color of your fencing glove and of the mesh of your mask is optional with you. That's official. I suppose that as long as nobody abuses the privilege and shows up with psychedelic horrors we can all go on using our brown or tan or black gloves and our steel gray masks. Hooray.

Sabre fencers can take heart for a while again: the FIE has decided that off-target touches must be registered by any electrical scoring system for sabre, so all the people working on sabre machines have been sent back to their drawing boards. On the other hand, sabre fencers do have something new to cope with: blade flexibility. I've remarked before on the lack of precise definition in this area (all that Article 406 has ever said was "Blades that are too stiff or too whippy are prohibited . . ."). Now we have a definition and a measuring system. From now on, sabre blades will have to pass a flex test similar to that used for foil and epee: the blade will be fastened, curve angling down, in a vise at 70 centimeters from the tip, and the same 200-gram weight used for the other weapons will be hooked onto the end, one centimeter from the tip. The bend of the blade will then be measured in the same fashion shown in the foil and epee diagrams in the rule book (pages 35 and 46): the extent of that bend must fall between 7 and 12 centimeters.

Over the last dozen years or so, the general introduction of solid-state scoring machines has brought some problems for manufacturers and fencers alike. One such problem is derived from the inherent speed of reaction of transistors, SCR's, IC's and so forth. Unless the design has allowed for the imperfections of the associated equipment (i.e., the reels and the fencer's body cord and weapon), the machine may produce foil off-target touches in disgusting excess (I mean when there's no point contact) or spurious epee touches on a guard, even when the grounding path is pretty much as envisioned in the rules. In other words, designers have to work to slow down their solid-state beauties. Some new technical specifications on timing and resistance have been adopted for the future in the hope of preventing these irritating (and often intermittent) phenomena.

At least one other addition will eventually be showing up on new foil machines, perhaps within a year, although its requirement for FIE competitions won't come into effect until January 1978, according to the report of the May 1976 Congress. This new advance is to be a pair of yellow lamps, one to a side, added to show if a contact has occurred between the blade or guard and the lame jacket on the same side. As that grounds out the target and make you invulnerable, it is prohibited. Evidently some of the boys and girls in Europe are being naughty again, especially at close quarters where the director cannot always be sure, at some angles, of what has occurred. The yellow lamp on the naughty side will light and stay lit until reset, showing the no-no, and allowing the director to apply the penalties (Article 230 and 648/b).

Yet another worry for the FIE inspectors: those of you who use metal or molded handles may want to take a closer look at what you're using and look again at Article 25, paragraph 6, which has just had some teeth added by another of the FIE decisions. If more than one position is merely possible for the hand, the handle will be refused at inspection. I should think that handles with minimal "pronging" would be the targets of this purge. Be guided accordingly.

Perhaps the biggest news is the rigorous inspection of masks that is now being carried out. A spring-loaded punch with a tapered point is inserted into the mesh and the spring released. The spring has a force of 8 K.G. (17 pounds). If the punch penetrated beyond the taper, thus opening the mesh, the mask, even if brand new, is declared defective — and at FIE competitions, will be destroyed. Our junior fencers in Poznan recently lost two masks this way. (They knock'em flat, like a pancake. I wonder if a small hydraulic press or just a blacksmith's anvil and a 20-pound sledgehammer will be standard equipment for inspectors from now on? Of course, one could always jump up and down on a mask with one's feet, but that way has no class, no class at all.)

Seriously now, have you looked carefully at your mask lately? And if not, why not?

1976 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

by Connie Latzko

The Philadelphia Division staged an outstanding National Championship at the Cherry Hill Tennis Courts. This was also the final Olympic Tryout before the Montreal Games. A Total of 500 entries competed in individual events, 95 in Under-19 events and there were 89 teams.

No one trains to be Organizing Chairman. Even so, Dave Micahnik of the Philadelphia Division rose to the occasion and accomplished it well. His task force supplied 20 strips in a spacious, well-lit arena. A technical crew headed by Marc Marshall kept it running smoothly. The Bout Committee, headed by Bill Latzko, and aided by managers assigned to each event, kept a complicated schedule moving competently and on time. By scheduling the quarter final, semi final and final rounds the day after the prelims, the fencers could fence without exhaustion and long hours interfering with their game.

The Martini-Rossi Trophy was won by the New York Athletic Club, with wins in epee, epee team, and sabre contributing to their total points. N.Y.A.C. had 38 points, Salle Santelli was second with 34 and New York Fencers Club was third with 20 points.
