JAMES M. CASTELLO

by Jeffrey R. Tishman

James M. Castello, the assistant fencing coach at New York University for twenty-nine years ending last season, died on October 25th, after a long illness. He was 58 years old.

"Jimmy" was the son of Julio Martinez Castello, the 1924 U.S. Olympic Coach, and New York University's first fencing coach; and the brother of Hugo M. Castello, the University's second fencing coach. Jim had been assistant coach to his father and brother from 1945 until last season, when he retired for reasons of health.

A graduate of N.Y.U.'s school of Education in 1939, he was a member of the Intercollegiate Championship Sabre Team of that year. During World War II, he worked with the Sperry Corporation in a prototype development capacity.

Jim's favorite interest in fencing centered on the armorer's craft. In his work at Castello Fencing Equipment and as an armorer for the Metropolitan Division during the 1940's and '50's he was responsible for many innovations in the development of the electric foil. For his expertise in all areas of this work, he was named armorer of the 1959 Pan American Team.

When he moved his family from New York City to suburban Long Island in the 1950's, his enthusiasm for our sport led him to help establish the Long Island Divi-

THE MARINE CORPS FENCING PROGRAM

by Capt. Jeff Kestler

In February 1974 at Quantico, Virginia, the Marine Corps formed a fencing team under the auspices of Major Ken Jordan, the Marine Athletics Officer. Five months later at the National Championships in New York the same team won the United States Foil Team title by defeating the New York Athletic Club 8-1 and the New York Fencers Club 5-4. It is the purpose of this article to describe briefly the method by which this result was attained in the hope that it may be some value to others in planning their training programs.

We were fortunate to have three experienced fencers to start with: 2nd Lt. Ed Donofrio, Captain Jeff Kestler, and 1st Lt. Bert Freeman were collegiate all Americans and the latter was a former National Champion and Olympian. We determined at the outset that our entire training program would have a two-pronged approach: physical conditioning with emphasis on flexible fencing technique. To serve the first end we established a daily program of calisthenics and cross country running. Each practice began with a half hour to forty five minutes of traditional warm up exercises: jumping jacks, bend and reach, trunk twistors etc., and ended three to four hours later with a three mile run during which all hills were sprinted to develop power. As we increased the duration of our actual fencing workouts, we found that it was no longer possible to run after practice, so at the beginning of May we increased the length of the runs to five miles but held them in the morning when we were fresh. We soon discovered that even with a recovery period of a couple of hours the runs were taking a good deal of the elasticity out of our legs so that our fencing in the afternoon was somewhat lethargic. We cut the runs to four miles and this seemed to do the trick.

After the initial warm-up phase of our training day we utilized an exercise which combined wind sprints with some basic fencing footwork. From the on-guard position each fencer would execute a rapid fleche and continue sprinting for twenty five yards, at which point he would assume the on guard position and execute a rapid series of retreats to the starting line. The exercise was repeated ten times with a two minute rest followed by another ten repetitions. At this point fifteen minutes of individual fencing stretching and warm-up exercises prepared us for the "lesson" phase of our workouts.

We did not have a fencing master. Initially, we took advantage of a kind offer of help from Coaches Andre Deladrier and Steve Bujnovsky of the Naval Academy, but time pressure and the energy crisis put a quick end to this. Necessity is the mother of invention and we all became fencing masters and attempted to pool our knowledge into workable lessons. Returning to our concept of physical fitness, we decided that lessons would consist in large part of lunges and advance lunges and would last until the "pupil" could not physically continue. An important element was included in our lessons to develop flexible techniques. During the last five or ten minutes of the lesson, the "master" would perform a combination of unprogrammed movements which required spontaneous non-mechanical responses from the pupil and often called for him to alter his attack in the middle of an advance lunge. For example, the "master" would move his weapon back and forth between the four and six lines, and the "pupil" would commence a one-two attack at which point the "master" might execute a single or double counter parry. In order to hit, the "pupil" would have to deceive whatever was thrown at him in the midst of his attack. He had to be flexible to be able to expect and respond to the unexpected. This procedure was difficult and frustrating but proved more valuable than executing an established series of exercises.

While "pupil" and "master" were engaged in the lesson, the third member of the team would watch the "pupil's" performance and offer frequent criticism. Our emphasis was on improving the very building blocks of our fencing. The first month of our training spent literally relearning the lunge. We forced one another to extend the arm first snap the back leg, improve balance etc., and regardless of our experience, we realized that we had a great deal to learn.

After each of us had received a lesson of approximately thirty to forty minutes, we entered a period of controlled bouting exercises. The first exercise consisted of a round robin in which touches could only be scored by straight attack or straight parry riposte, i.e. no feints or taking of the blade could precede the attack or the riposte. This forced each fencer to concentrate on distance and timing. The next series of controlled bouts placed each fencer alternately in the position of attacker or defender. A defender could only score by riposte or stop thrust while in the next bout as attacker he could work on his offensive game. Finally, we finished our session with thirty minutes of round robin fencing.

This routine was followed every day and was rarely changed. Perhaps the most important part of the program described above was that we entered every competition in foil and epee that we could, and hence, the sixth day of a typical week consisted of a competition. During the course of these competitions, we had occasion to evaluate ourselves and our opponents. On Mondays we would hold discussion which consisted of an analysis of significant flaws that we had observed in our own fencing and in suggestions for successful techniques to use against particular opponents. This type of session proved extremely worthwhile.

Looking back on our program with insights gained at the National and World Championships we realize that it constituted only a first step towards improving our fencing, but it was a firm step.

QUICKIE QUIZ

Under what circumstances may a fencer legally withdraw from a competition? (See Para. 646, 647, page 122, of the 1974 Rules Book.)

WORLD UNIVERSITY GA

The Fencing Games Committee United States Collegiate Sports Council established preliminary procedure: college and/or university student in participating in the World University Games, Belgrade, Yugoslavia, September 12-29, 1975.

Those wishing to declare their to be considered for any of the squads must meet at least the three basic criteria for eligibility

1. You must be a full time undergraduate student of a collegiate institution as determined and accepted by that institution.
2. You must be at least 17 years of age and not more than 28 years of age on January 1st of the year of the event (1975).
3. You must be a citizen of the United States.

If you wish to declare your intention to compete in the upcoming World University Games and meet the basic criteria above, please request by mail, a declaration form from the following:

World University
c/o Director of A
Baruch College,
17 Lexington Ave
New York, N.Y. 10023

The deadline for declaration of intention is March 1, 1975.

The selection procedure for the five squads will be determined in the near future. The number of individuals allowed to represent the U.S. Squad has yet to be approved by the U.S.C., as well as the cadre for contingents. This is partially due to the lateness of this announcement declaring their intention to compete as soon as this has been determined by the committee. Among the possible procedures under consideration are the results of the A.F.L.A. National Championships, Pan-American and World Championships, etc.

NEW REGULATION ON "SIMULTANEOUS ATTACKS" IN SABRE

by Dr. Joseph Byrnes

(Ed. Note: On 17 May 1974 the FIE Congress at Monte-Carlo voted to try out new rules for judging in sabre, designed to reduce or avoid simultaneous attacks. These rules were to be applied, and were applied, at the World Championships at Grenoble in July. As they have not yet been designated with article numbers, so far as we have heard, they are not yet a permanent part of the rule book; rather, they should be regarded for the present as an ad hoc experiment, likely to be used in FIE events, and optional at lower levels. The full text follows:)

After two consecutive "simultaneous attack" decisions (i.e., one right after another) in the course of a bout, the Director will issue a warning to both fencers, this warning to remain in effect even after the exchange of one or more valid or invalid touches.

If, after this warning, there is another decision of "simultaneous attack," the bout will be resumed under the following conditions:

— the two fencers will in turn be given the benefit of the initiative or priority to attack; the fencer not so benefited is prohibited from causing a "simultaneous attack" decision, on penalty of being declared touched, unless on that action he succeeds in touching his opponent on valid or invalid surface, Without himself being touched.

— the selection of the first attacker, that is, of the fencer who will first be given the benefit of this initiative on the attack, is decided by drawing lots, supervised by the Director.

— after the first exchange that produces a valid touch, the roles of the fencers are reversed: the fencer who had first benefited from the initiative on the attack now being prohibited from causing a "simultaneous attack," on penalty of being declared touched.

— in case an invalid touch or no decision results from an exchange, the fencer who had the initiative on the attack retains it when put back on guard.

— after the second exchange that produces a valid touch, the bout resumes in normal fashion. However, in case there are two new consecutive "simultaneous attack" decisions, the Director, after warning both fencers, will, every such time, apply the preceding regulations.

For the application of this rule, "simultaneous attacks" in which:

— each fencer is touched on valid or on invalid surface,

— one fencer is touched on valid surface and the other on invalid,

— neither fencer is touched (in this case the Director must not take into consideration any action following the simultaneous attack that produced no result), must be counted in calculating the required two consecutive decisions.

On the other hand, a decision of "simultaneous attack" in which only one fencer is touched, either on valid or invalid surface, will not be used in the calculation.

Scoring the Bout

If the score of the bout is 4-3, 4-2, or 4-1 at the time the lots are drawn, each fencer must still benefit in turn from the attacking initiative, even if the score becomes 5-3, 5-2, or 5-1 by the first valid touch following the drawing of lots.

If the application of the rule brings the final score to 6-3, 6-2, or 6-1, the bout is halted and the winning score entered on the score sheet for the pool will be 5-3, 5-2, or 5-1, as though this were the actual score.

When the score is four-all, the rule will likewise be applied, in turn, for each fencer:

— if the application of this rule brings the score to 6-4, the bout is halted, and the winning score entered on the score sheet for the pool will be 5-4.

— if the application of this rule brings the score to 5-5, the bout will be resumed in normal fashion to determine the final touch. However, if in the continuation of the bout three new "simultaneous attack" decisions again oblige the Director to determine the offensive initiative by lot, the first valid touch scored will end the bout and the winning score entered on the score sheet of the pool will be 5-4.

CHANGES AND ADDITIONS TO THE FENCING RULES

(as adopted by the FIE Congress of 16-17 May 1974 at Monte Carlo)

Art. 531 Delete the second paragraph ("There will be only . . . supplementary fence-off."), and replace by the following:

There will be only one fence-off in a case of a tie in number of touches in a fence-off involving two competitors, the final standings will be determined by the sum of the touches obtained by adding one hand, the touches scored on the other, the touches received in both the pool and the fence-off. If there is a new and absolute majority of bouts won and TS/TR in the fencers will have to win a supplementary fence-off.

Three minutes rest (see 526).

—3rd bout: the winner of the first bout against the loser of the second.

—4th bout: the winner of the second bout against the loser of the first. Three minutes rest (see 526).

If at the end of the first four bouts only one of the four fencers has two victories, his third bout will be fenced before the remaining one.

—5th bout: the fencer already having two victories against the one he has not yet met.

—6th bout: the remaining bout.

2. In other competitions, at the discretion of the organizers, the following rules may be applied for pools of four:

The rest of this part 2 is identical to the present text of Art. 547 on page 78 of the rule book, with the following two small changes:

In the third line of the original Art. 547, change will to may; and change the opening of the last paragraph to read: "In these procedures (1 and 2) for pools of four, except . . ."

Art. 548 Delete the present second and third paragraphs ("There will be . . . and of the fence-off."), and replace by the identical text used for the new second paragraph of 531 above.

The remainder of the article is unchanged.

Art. 577 In the first sentence, second line, add one word as follows:

At the end of the first sentence, change the period to a comma, and add the following new text:

following the system of assignment by drawing lots as set forth below:

- 1st — the two teams drawing number 1 and 2
- 2nd — the two teams drawing numbers 3 and 4
- 3rd — the two teams drawing numbers 5 and 6
- 4th — the two teams drawing numbers 7 and 8
- 5th — the two teams drawing numbers 9 and 10
- 6th — the two teams drawing numbers 11 and 12

 and so forth if there are more than sixteen qualified teams.

The remainder of the article is unchanged.

Art. 640 Add the following new text at the end:

3. During the fencing action, under no circumstances may the fencer's unarmed hand grasp any part of the electrical equipment (see 30).

[The penalty for violation is] — a warning given in the course of the same bout;

— a penalty touch for a repetition; as this penalty touch cannot lose the bout, the same rule as in 640/2 must be applied.

The foregoing is the complete text of changes to the numbered articles of the rule book, as adopted by the FIE in May 1974 and officially reported to date.

(Note: The change in Article 577 means that the No. 1 and No. 2 teams as determined by the fencing will toss for the top and bottom half positions on the tableau for direct elimination and will no longer go automatically No. 1 to the top and No. 2 to the bottom. The same applies to the remaining pairs, 3 and 4, 5 and 6, etc.)

PROCEDURE FOR ENTRY TO NATIONALS WITHOUT COMPETING IN QUALIFYING EVENT

At its meeting in September 1974, the National Board of Directors reinterpreted the Operations Manual and established guidelines for appeals by fencers who cannot qualify through local qualifying events. The guidelines are as follows:

1. Appeals may be filed by fencers who were qualifiers (by means of competition or appeal) or alternates in the prior season and either were unable to compete in local qualifying events this season or did compete and had to withdraw because of a disabling injury or illness.

2. All appeals must be received by the National Secretary by the deadline for entry in the Nationals and must be accompanied by a $5.00 filing fee.

3. All appeals must include supporting facts as to the dates, reason for and other pertinent facts. Any reasons must be substantiated by confirmation from a doctor.

4. All appeals must be accompanied by a summary of the fencer's competition results during the current season.

5. Appeals will be reviewed by the National Executive Committee. Decisions will be based on the validity of reasons for absence or withdrawal and the performance of the fencer having qualified through the current season.

MEL NORTH RESIGNS

After 13 years as head Fencing Coach at UCLA, Maestro Mel North has resigned and is headed for a life away from the hustle of the city. Mel is moving to a small town in Colorado.

His many friends in Southern California will miss him and UCLA will be hard pressed to find a man to repeat the fine record his teams has amassed. In 378 dual meets UCLA has only lost 28. During those years 174 consecutive victories were recorded. His womens' teams have been Western Champions several times and he has had 26 men on the All-Conference Squad.

On the AFLA scene he has had three National Champions, two in EPEE and one FOIL and scores of other accomplishments too numerous to mention.

We all wish Maestro North good luck in his new life and envy his chance to breath fresh, clean air.

METROPOLITAN DIVISION

The Metropolitan Division has scheduled 78 competitions for the 1974-75 season.

VOLLKOMMER COACH

Linda Vollkommer, a graduate of City State College has been appointed first woman coach at the Stevens Institute of Technology of Hoboken, New Jersey. Linda fenced three years at Jersey State and captained the squad for a season. She also taught fencing at Jersey City Y.W.C.A. and is currently completing physical education at the North High School.

A NEW NATIONAL
by Jeffrey Tishman

At the 1932 U.S. Olympic Trials in New York City, a special sterling trophy was presented to Miguel de Capriles, the winner of the epee tryout, by the most successful national champion of the period, Leo G. Nunes.

Miguel de Capriles went on to make four Olympic Teams and become the President of both the Amateur Fencers League of America and the International Fencing Federation. Leo G. Nunes, whose eighteen national individual titles represent the all-time AFLA record, continued over the next four decades to contribute much to American fencing and in particular to the Junior Olympic Movement, until his death last June at the age of eighty-two.

In memory of Leo G. Nunes, Dr. Miguel de Capriles of New York University "redonated" the cup he won forty-two years ago to the AFLA as the trophy for the Under-19 National Epee Championship. The first reipient of the new trophy is this year's champion Greg Massialas of the Fencing Academy of Michigan.

The new trophy is a sterling silver cup on a teak base. The cup bears the original inscription: "Epee Tournament: New York: February 1932: First Prize: Miguel A. de Capriles."

The base that the trophy stands on is fitted with a sterling collar, engraved on one side "Nunes Cup" and on the other "Under-19 National Epee Champion" with the legend "this trophy was awarded by Leo G. Nunes for the Olympic Tryout of 1932 and was donated in his memory to the AFLA in 1974 by Miguel A. de Capriles."

The Leo G. Nunes Trophy joins two other Under-19 National Championship Trophies in honoring significant figures on the American fencing scene. The Under-19 National Women's Foil Trophy first presented in 1970, honors the late Marion Lloyd Vince, the first American woman to reach the Olympic final round; and the Under-19 Men's Foil Trophy that was initiated in 1971 commemorates the late Rene Pinchart, a four-time U.S. Olympic Fencing Coach.

RUSSIAN PISTOL GRIP

FOR BETTER WEAPON CONTROL

Another CASTELLO innovation to meet the changing needs of the American competitor

Because so many international epeeists have switched to this new anatomical grip, first used with such exceptional success by a great Russian champion, we have copied the original design and made it available to American fencers.

The handle feels as if it was made for your palm, allowing extremely strong and accurate play.

Handles are die-cast satin-finished aluminum encased in an unbreakable and non-conductive porcelainized insulating material that preserves the metal finish and protects against possible shocks.

AFLA members will have the opportunity to save money, enjoy a fascinating vacation, and help the 1975 U.S.A. World Championship team next year from July 5th to July 21st, by participating in an organized charter flight from New York to Budapest, during the time of these World Championships.

Through the professional services of Don Gordon, Executive Secretary of Jersey Beachcombers International, those persons who have joined the AFLA on or before December 31, 1974, will be eligible to take advantage of the charter flight at a greatly reduced rate (remember the recent increases in international air fares). Mr. Gordon has previously handled travel arrangements for the U.S. Junior teams and is currently negotiating with regular scheduled air lines for this charter.

This is an excellent opportunity for a combination vacation, viewing of the World Championships, and support of the U.S. team members who will be fencing. If we can get 300 boosters, the round trip flight may be as cheap as $399.00!

REMEMBER: 1. Flight will leave July 5 and return later on July 21.

2. Regular schedule will be used!

3. You must be a member before 1974. (Don't forget Student, Association other membership)

DO IT NOW!

Join the AFLA (See the Official bottom of page) and write to: DON (JERSEY BEACHCOMBERS INTERNATIONAL) 34 Gould Street, Verona, New Jersey for full charter flight information.
